Elle scoops International Citizenship award

Congratulations to Elle Maguire (7S) who has been presented with the Liverpool John Moores University International Citizenship award for her outstanding charity work.

Elle received the honour at the prestigious LJMU Roscoe Lecture at the Philharmonic Hall on Wednesday, 22 September. The articulate pupil was presented with her award, which is sponsored by Liverpool Consular Corps, by Lord Malloch-Brown, President of the Royal Africa Society, along with Mrs Nunzia Bertali, the Italian Consul.

Elle revealed how she helped raise more than £500 for the Waterloo Partnership by selling knitted chicks and raffle tickets while she was a pupil at Great Crosby Catholic Primary School.

Having already received a Citizenship Award for her fantastic efforts, Elle was 'proud' to learn she had been nominated for the International Award, she said: "I got the Citizenship Award, which I was really excited about and then I found out I was getting the International Award and I was really proud."

Elle paid tribute to her former teacher at Great Crosby, Mary Corbett, who she described as her inspiration, she added: "I was inspired by one of my teachers at Great Crosby, Mrs Corbett, and it was she who nominated me for the award."

Elle was accompanied to the Roscoe Lecture by Mrs Corbett, which was hosted by Lord David Alton, Director of the Roscoe Foundation for Citizenship at Liverpool John Moores University and Lord Mark Malloch-Brown

Nervous

The 7S pupil admits to feeling nervous during the presentation, she said: "Mrs Corbett came with me to collect the award. I felt really shaky but Mrs Corbett kept telling me everything was OK."

But the fundraising hasn't stopped there for the 11-year-old, who is still helping raise more money for Sierra Leone, courtesy of the Waterloo Partnership."

Elle said: "I've done some charity runs and have raised money for Imagine, which is a charity for the homeless in Africa and America. I have also made money boxes which I'm hoping the College here will let me give out to pupils, who will then donate money to the Waterloo Partnership.

"I am going to carry on with my charity work for as long as I can. I'm looking at getting involved with new charities – Waterloo Partnership was just the first but, hopefully, not the last."

Sam D'Auvin (10T), Sian Wilson (10E), Sarah McEvoy (10R) and George Knifton (10E) from the Y10 SVP group, present Sister Christiana with a cheque for £200. Last year, the College provided funds for a well in Sierra Leone (48m deep). We are now working towards supplying a generator to provide electricity for the local school.

What's in a name?

Well done to the families of Katie Mooney (7T), Alex Ziegler (7R) and Mrs Doherty, who all came up with the new name for the College newsletter. We received a great deal of entries but it was Katie, Alex and Miss Doherty's suggestion, Heartbeat, which impressed the judges most. Well done.

The week in brief

All present: Head of RE, Mr Moorhead, presents a certificate to Clare Marsh (13E) and the College Orchestra to recognise their efforts over the summer which saw them raise nearly £700 for the Waterloo Partnership.

The Hall was alive with the sound of music recently, as the College held an Orchestra Day.

Musicians from Years 7-13 were invited to perform in the Prep Hall on Friday, 20 September, as the Music department paid thanks and congratulated the hard work put in by pupils last year.

Head of Music, Mr Foy, said: The Orchestra Day was our way of congratulating the pupils for their commitment and hard work over the last year; for their performance at the summer concert, which raised nearly £700 for the Waterloo Partnership, and for their performance, behaviour and the professional way in which they represented the school on the tour to Paris.”

The musicians showed their talents from the off as they performed masterfully on fresh interpretations of music from blockbuster movies such as the Pirates of the Caribbean, The Great Escape and Raiders of the Lost Ark.

New to this year’s repertoire, but performed as if they had been playing them for years, were orchestral pieces from Schindler’s List, The Godfather theme, The Godfather Waltz, the Jurassic Park theme, Mission Impossible and James Bond. The day was a massive success and a delighted Mr Foy added: “The pupils have picked up from where they left off last year. The day was very enjoyable and all the pupils did themselves proud. I could not have asked for anything more from them.”
