Heartbeat

SACRED HEART · CATHOLIC COLLEGE ·

Sky's the limit for daring duo

You wait ages for someone to do a charity skydive - then two come along at once.

Becky Ray (main picture), who left Sacred Heart in the summer, and Holly Peel (inset, 12C) both performed the 10,000 feet stunt, independently of each other, to raise money for their respective charities.

Currently, Becky has raised £550 for Claire House, while Holly has raised £600 for Alder Hey. Both say they are still receiving donations. Naturally, the two 17-year-olds were thrilled with the experience. Holly said: "It was an amazing feeling. It felt like we were flying and was not scary at all."

Becky echoed those sentiments, saying: "It was a great experience, the best feeling ever. It was such an adrenaline rush."

Summer School had kids up the wall

Children quite often complain of being bored during the six weeks summer holiday but Sacred Heart students were climbing the walls, literally.

While the thought of school may have sent other youngsters scurrying for their Playstations, Sacred Heart students were back at College, as they attended Summer School in their droves. The active bunch took part in a multitude of activities from kayaking, wall climbing, tee-shirt designing, fun maths, treasure hunting and much much more. Among those involved was Director of Lower School, Mr Griffiths, he said: "It was great to see so many students at the Summer School. There were plenty of activities and everyone who attended had a great time. It was a real success."

News in brief
There is a Geography fieldtrip to Bowness on Windermere tomorrow. Thursday is National Poetry Day, staff are asked to start lessons with a poem. Years 7-9 will take part in a poetry competiton, via their English lessons, based on this year's topic, Water.